To Whom It May Concern:

As an American with limited Chinese language skills, starting a business in Taiwan can be very confusing. A good accountant is essential to provide sound business advice, navigate the bureaucracy, and ensure that all taxes are properly assessed and paid. I feel very fortunate to be a client of Good Earth CPA. Joseph has saved me a lot of time and frustration with his advice, and Peggy and Amber make sure my day-to-day affairs are all in order. I know that if I need some help or have questions, they will respond quickly and address the issue, and their fees are very reasonable. Good Earth is a valuable business partner, and I recommend their services for anyone needing accounting services in Taipei, especially other expatriate businessmen.
